Office Partners with Employers

Thank you for your decision to include North Carolina A&T State University as a resource for your hiring needs. The Office of Career Services (OCS) offers a one-stop shop for on-campus interviewing, resume referrals, job postings, classroom visitations, and many other on-campus activities.

Employer comments have included:

- I’d like to thank you again for your support in helping (us) interact with N.C. A&T students. Your quick response to emails and willingness to accommodate us allowed me to be successful on campus. I’m very excited to return to N.C. A&T and I look forward to continuing a partnership with the Career Services Staff.

- Very good program, very informative, there are a lot of great things going on at this Institution. I am very proud to be here and look forward to coming back in the future.

- GREAT N.C. A&T Career Services team! As always, very helpful and professional. Thank the entire team for their help!!

- Everything was great! Again, our group is not well known (yet), so I didn’t expect students to know a great deal about the position. I was happy to share more information and look forward to recruiting at N.C. A&T in the future.

- Great work! Your career fair exceeded UGA, GT and Clemson. Thanks!

- We had a great day of interviews. The staff was excellent, including the guards for parking. We enjoyed the students thoroughly.

The annual Spring Career Fair will be held on February 21, 2013. Details and registration are available at www.ncat.edu/careerservices.

President Obama Appoints Chancellor Martin

On Nov. 27, President Barack Obama named North Carolina A&T State University chancellor Harold L. Martin Sr. a member of the Board for International Food and Agricultural Development (BIFAD).

“The extraordinary dedication these individuals bring to their new roles will greatly serve the American people,” President Obama said about Martin and the other appointees. “I am grateful they have agreed to serve in this Administration and I look forward to working with them in the months and years to come.”

BIFAD advises USAID on agriculture and higher education issues pertinent to food insecurity in developing countries. The President appoints members, who primarily represent the academic community. BIFAD was established by Title XII of the Foreign Assistance Act. The Board and Title XII recognize the critical role of U.S. land-grant institutions in agricultural development, domestically and abroad, and support their representation in USAID development programs.

Employer Follow-up Survey Available Online

Employers who participate in on-campus recruiting or post job announcements during the academic year (fall and/or spring) are asked by the Office of Career Services to complete the Employer Follow-up Survey, which is now available online at www.ncat.edu/careerservices. (Only summary data is shared.) This information is not only used by the Office but also by employers who inquire about salary-related information to determine if they are competitive.

Spotlight on Academics – The College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences provides the academic foundation for all majors at A&T and provides its own majors with degree programs in the arts, humanities, mathematics, and the natural, social and behavioral sciences as well as the skills, attitudes, and behavioral patterns that promote a life of productive work and citizenship. Its primary goal is to provide students with an excellent education that fosters creativity, self-discipline and critical thinking. It is also a goal of the College to prepare students for success in the work place, graduate education and/or professional studies. In fulfilling its primary goals, the College endeavors to provide students with the ability to lead in an increasingly global educational and economic environment.

The College of Arts and Sciences is composed of 14 departments offering more than 30 undergraduate degrees. Students may pursue the Bachelor of Arts, the Bachelor of Science, the Bachelor of Fine Arts, or the Bachelor of Social Work degree.

The College’s affiliated programs – the University Galleries, A&T Register, TV Studio and WNAA Radio – provide additional opportunities for learning and development for the College’s students. The University Writing Center and the Math and Science Learning Resource Center support students in advancing their academic careers.
