

PH.D. IN REHABILITATION COUNSELING AND REHABILITATION COUNSELOR EDUCATION

Summary of the program

The Doctor of Philosophy in Rehabilitation Counseling and Rehabilitation Counselor Education is designed to prepare culturally competent students to work as counselor educators, researchers, clinicians, and supervisors in academic and non-academic settings. In addition to establishing a core foundation in rehabilitation counseling and research, major emphasis is provided in the area of Trauma and Trauma Informed Care.

The primary educational objectives of the program are:

- To increase students' knowledge of the role and functions of rehabilitation counselor educators, researchers, and counselors
- To equip students with unique counseling and research skills to provide effective rehabilitation counseling, education, and research within a cultural context
- To prepare students to obtain content knowledge in cultural diversity, trauma informed care, and additional expertise in specific areas in rehabilitation education

- To equip students with knowledge, skills, and experiences to increase the body of research addressing diversity, social justice, and disability issues
- To prepare students to address professional issues and become leaders and researchers in rehabilitation counselor education and disability research through professional associations, publications, and professional development

Scholarly Engagement

The doctoral program promotes professional development, research, and scholarship among both faculty and students. Faculty and students work collaboratively to publish manuscripts in journals of counseling and rehabilitation. Additionally, faculty and students identify and submit competitive grants to respective entities. Students actively engage in research overseas to include Belize, Ghana, China, and Rwanda. Faculty and students hold memberships in a variety of associations, including the:

- American Counseling Association
- National Council on Rehabilitation Education

- National Rehabilitation Association
- American Rehabilitation Counseling Association
- Association for Counselor Education and Supervision
- Southern Association for Counselor Education and Supervision

Overview of Coursework/ Requirements
