TRANSITIONAL PROGRAMS

TRANSITIONING—STEPPING INTO YOUR COLLEGE LIFE

TAU SIGMA NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Tau Sigma is an academic honor society designed specifically to “recognize and promote the academic excellence and involvement of transfer students.”

Membership Criteria
You must transfer to a four year institution of higher learning from another academic institution with at least one full year’s academic credits satisfied at the prior institution(s).

You must be registered in a course of study leading to a bachelor’s degree for an amount of work equal to an average full load (usually 12 to 15 hours—however, the definition of a full load is left to the discretion of each institution). Questions regarding eligibility arising from exceptional circumstances affecting an individual student must be referred to the national headquarters for a decision.

Membership in the organization shall be based upon superior academic achievement by students during their first term in the institution to which they transfer (only credit hours that count toward a bachelor’s degree can be used to determine Tau Sigma eligibility). The minimum academic average required for membership is either a 3.5 on a 4.0 scale (or the equivalent thereof) or an academic average that places the prospective candidate in the top 20 percent of all incoming transfer students during the term in question. Academic eligibility shall be obtained on the grades of one full curricular period.

For more information contact the chapter advisor, Mr. Ferrell L. McGilvary via email at flmcgilv@ncat.edu or by phone at (336) 256-2212.

NEW STUDENT INSTITUTE

The New Student Institute (NSI) is a rigorous educational program that prepares new students for their collegiate journey! Campus administrators, faculty, staff and students participate in this extended orientation program, that allows students to build and develop their toolkit with knowledge, advice and skills that will ensure their academic success at North Carolina A&T State University.

This program is mandatory for all new freshmen and transfer students.

SUCCESS SERIES

Academic Engagement and Exploration—These sessions help students become successful both inside and outside of the classroom. Session topics include improving study and note-taking skills; tackling procrastination; exploring career options; and learning about math resources or study abroad options.

Alcohol and Other Drug Awareness—These sessions increase students’ knowledge regarding the effects and consequences of alcohol and other drug abuse, correct misperceptions regarding norms for alcohol and other drug use at N.C. A&T, and guide students in evaluating their expectancies regarding and motivations for high-risk drinking and other drug use. The sessions also provide students with alternatives to drinking and other drug use, and will define and encourage low-risk, responsible drinking.

Anxiety and Mental Health—The sessions under this theme are designed to provide positive coping skills for participants on a variety of challenges typical to first-year college students. The topics range from test anxiety and stress management to dealing with prejudice and discrimination. Sessions under this theme provide students with strategies for leading a healthy, balanced life.

Diversity & Inclusion—Learning to live in a diverse world is an essential part of the college experience. This theme focuses on the diverse nature of N.C. A&T and explores what it means to work and live with people from differing backgrounds. Sessions will focus on how diversity affects individuals and groups in society. Students can choose from sessions that address issues of race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, class, and gender.

Financial and Debt Management—Students today are often faced with growing amounts of debt and increased responsibility for personal financial management. In these sessions, students will have the opportunity to explore the consequences of and alternatives to buying on credit and will learn strategies to ensure a secure financial future.

Health and Wellness—Through these events, students will learn how to weave wellness activities and practices into their daily routines. Students will receive information about making healthy choices, illness prevention, student assistance, and wellness resources on campus.

Leadership—Leadership sessions are focused in two areas—leadership development and featured leadership speakers. Sessions are offered that encourage students to become involved on campus and provide opportunities to develop leadership skills. Leadership speakers are noted professionals and leaders in the local, state, or national community who come to campus to share their personal experiences and successes in leadership with first-year students.

Sexual Health—Session topics will address choices regarding sexual activity, birth control methods, and abstinence. Students will learn about the dangers and prevention of sexually transmitted diseases and how drug and/or alcohol intoxication factors into decision making.

For more information about this information, contact Mr. Ferrell L. McGilvary, Assistant Director of Transitional Programs at flmcgilv@ncat.edu or (336) 256-2212.

The form should be returned to the Registrar’s Office.

AWARDED

1. Review, Accept, Reduce or Decline Financial Aid Award on Aggie Access
   All students must accept, decline or reduce their financial aid on Aggie Access. Direct Loan for new students will not be disbursed until thirty (30) days after classes has begun and the loan is accepted on Aggie Access.

OTHER FINANCIAL AID OPTIONS

1. Parent of a Dependent Student can apply for a Plus Loan to cover any unpaid balance
   Another option available to students and parents to assist with paying the balance due the University is the Parent PLUS Loan for dependent students.
   • Interested parent must complete a Federal Direct Loan Data Sheet.
   • A credit check is performed on PLUS Loan applicants. Requested amount cannot exceed the Cost of Attendance minus financial aid awarded.
   • Approved borrower must electronically sign a Master Promissory note at www.studentloan.gov.
   • If the PLUS is denied, the student is automatically eligible for up to $4,000 in additional Unsubsidized Loan.
Alternative Student Loans
Borrowing through an Alternative Loan Program is another option available to students who still need money to assist with meeting the cost to attend the University. This should be the last resource that students and parents consider. Students are encouraged to seek all other options before borrowing an Alternative Loan.

- Various lenders offer alternative loans to students.
- You should be aware that alternative loans carry a higher interest rate than your Federal Direct Loan.
- The Alternative Loan is based on credit.
- The borrower may also need a credit worthy co-signer.

The educational mission of the School of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences is to provide students with understanding and skills to address the problems of the agricultural economy and to help those involved in it lead more productive and satisfying lives. From management sciences to diet and nutrition, the School of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences provides opportunities for rewarding careers in teaching, extension, agricultural-related business, fashion, research, and government.

The modern discipline of agriculture has two major branches, technology and social science. Students pursuing the technological side, for example, will study the natural sciences and technology for their applications in the food and agricultural industries. On the social science side, concerns such as economics, community development, and sales and marketing are predominant. Preparation for admission to the School of Veterinary Medicine at North Carolina State University is offered through the program leading to the Bachelor of Science in Laboratory Animal Science.
With 13 departments and programs in eight buildings, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest academic unit at N.C. A&T, and is at the heart of any well-rounded course of study. This is where you will find the educational building blocks for careers in the arts, humanities, communications, mathematics, and the social, behavioral, and natural sciences, and more.

Through excellent instruction and service-learning opportunities from the College of Arts and Sciences, our students hone their critical thinking skills, engage in contemporary research, and develop creative problem-solving abilities in a variety of programs:

- Visual Arts
- Music
- Theatre
- English
- Liberal Studies
- Speech
- Journalism and Mass Communication
- Mathematics
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Physics
- Atmospheric Sciences and Meteorology
- Energy and Environmental Systems
- Political Science
- Criminal Justice
- Psychology
- Sociology
- Social Work
- History
- Secondary Education

Our graduates continue their studies at some of the most prestigious graduate schools in the nation, such as the late NASA astronaut Ron McNair, who followed his A&T degree in physics with a distinguished academic career at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Or they may immediately begin professional careers with the many research institutions, businesses, and government agencies that recruit and hire A&T students.
SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Dr. Quiester Craig, Dean
craiq@ncat.edu

Through programs designed to develop analytical, technological, team building, and communication skills, together with business acumen, students are prepared to competitively perform and advance in a global economy. The school’s learner-centered environment is characterized by effective instruction and faculty scholarship, and emphasizes the importance of leadership, ethical reasoning, critical thinking, and the need for continuous learning.

The school’s focus on excellence resulted in initial accreditation of its academic programs by AACSB International, The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, in 1979.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Dr. William Harvey, Dean
wgharvey@ncat.edu

The School of Education is a learning centered organization that prepares a variety of educators and human services professionals and supports their continuing professional development. Our graduates are catalysts for learning and leading in diverse contexts who engage in collaborative practice with key stakeholders from local to global communities.
COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Dr. Robin Coger, Dean
rchoger@ncat.edu

Our engineering programs are designed to deliver outstanding instruction, prepare students for future challenges as yet unimagined, and create outreach programs that are mutually beneficial for the student and our larger community—on a local, national, and international scale.

The College of Engineering is a leading national producer of African American engineers at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

We encourage the pursuit of interdisciplinary studies, and cultivate strategic partnerships that enable our students to not only receive a broad-based education but also to position themselves well for employment and success in the face of complex problems.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Dr. Inez Tuck, Dean
rctuck@ncat.edu

N.C. A&T's School of Nursing provides students with an education informed by theory, research, and clinical practice, and rooted in academic excellence, scholarly inquiry, and civility. Upon graduation, our nurses are qualified to enter professional practice and deliver quality patient-centered care, or to continue their studies at a graduate level.

We utilize clinical experiential learning, research data, information technology, and knowledge from the liberal arts, biological and physical science, and social science disciplines to prepare nurses to consider the environment, and the rapidly evolving healthcare system in their care of patients.

Explore our options within the School of Nursing for:

- Traditional Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN)
- Accelerated BSN option for those with a non-nursing bachelor's degree
- BSN completion option for those who are already registered nurses
In a rapidly evolving technology industry, businesses, schools, and governments need workers with diverse skill sets, a broad capacity for problem solving, and a team-oriented outlook. The School of Technology educates the whole person so you can compete in that 21st century marketplace.

We take individuals proficient in the application of basic science and technology and prepare them for employment by nurturing their creativity, training them in management and communication, and providing them with the advanced knowledge they need for leadership and educational roles.

To pursue career opportunities in research, design, inspection, distribution, service, education, or another field in technology, you can take your first step with one of our programs.

STUDY ABROAD

N.C. A&T is committed to promoting global awareness, understanding and education for its students, faculty and staff across all disciplines. In addition to our study abroad and student exchange programs, we present on-campus, cross-cultural workshops, lectures and events. A Global Studies Certificate program is offered for undergraduate students and host international visitors to the university.

Study abroad. Options include an exchange program only requiring students to pay tuition and fees at their home university instead of the host, a direct study abroad program administered through a third party or a faculty-led program. These programs range from two weeks in the summer to one semester or even an entire academic year.

Academic enrichment programs. Often led by faculty, these short trips (less than two weeks) are sometimes embedded in academic courses or offered during spring break.

Other educational opportunities. With credit and non-credit possibilities, students can participate in research, service learning and internship openings around the world-some even funded by scholarships and grants.

ARMY ROTC—THE AGGIE BATTALION

Army—N.C. A&T is a host school for six other universities for students interested in participating the Army’s Reserve Officers’ Training Corps (ROTC) program. The Aggie Battalion is responsible for training college students from the Greater Greensboro Area universities to become the future leaders of tomorrow’s Army. Air Force ROTC will help you develop both leadership skills and self-confidence, and give opportunities to compete for Air Force ROTC scholarships. The combination of academic study and work produces an overall learning experience that gives greater meaning to students’ studies and more direction to career development.

This program is non-compulsory; however, the university urges students to gain work experiences either through internships or cooperative education assignments prior to graduation. The program is student oriented and centralized out of the Office of Career Services (OCS).

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University is a public, doctoral/research, 1890 land-grant university committed to exemplary teaching and learning, scholarly and creative research, and effective engagement and public service. The university offers degrees at the baccalaureate, master’s and doctoral levels and has a commitment to excellence in a comprehensive range of academic disciplines. Our unique legacy and educational philosophy provide students with a broad range of experiences that foster transformation and leadership for a dynamic and global society.

In 1890, Congress enacted the second Morrill Act that mandated “a separate college for the colored race.” The Agricultural and Mechanical College for the Colored Race (now N.C. A&T) was established as that school in the state of North Carolina by an act of the General Assembly ratified on March 9, 1891. Originally operating in Raleigh as an annex to Shaw University, the college made a permanent home in Greensboro with the help of citizens such as Dr. DeWitt (a black dentist), C. Benbow, and Charles H. Moore.

In 1915, state legislators changed the college’s name to the Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina; and in 1967, they elevated it to university status. N.C. A&T became a constituent university of the University of North Carolina in 1972.

N.C. A&T has ranked third among The University of North Carolina system’s 17 member institutions in research funding since 2005.

It also generates contracts with major international companies, foundations and federal agencies to secure funding to enhance academic programs and to provide student scholarships.

ALMA MATER

Verse I
Dear A&T, Dear A&T, a monument indeed, Around thy base with grateful hearts behold thy students kneel.
we bless the power that gave thee birth to help us in our need,
We’ll ever strive while here on earth all loyalty to yield.

Refrain
With joy, with joy, dear A&T, thy students turn from thee
To spread thy trophies year by year from Dare to Cherokee.

Verse II
Dear A&T, Dear A&T, the signet thou shalt be, Set by our great old commonwealth, proud boaster of the free
She’d have the record of her worth on granite not inscribed—
Nay, let the children of her birth proclaim it by their lives.

Verse III
Dear A&T, Dear A&T, henceforth our aim shall be,
By precepts wise and deeds more sure to bless the
State through thee;
The arts of industry to wield against an idle foe
A harvest rich from ripened fields or what thy students sow.

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University is an academic community focused on students—providing them with interdisciplinary learning opportunities, teaching them with faculty renowned for excellence, connecting them to cutting edge discoveries in research, and encouraging them to serve their communities.

We were founded in 1891 as a land-grant institution, and we’ve built a strong civil rights legacy along the way. The Greensboro Four—who staged the first ever sit-in at a Woolworth lunch counter in 1960—were Aggies.

We strive for excellence and innovation in our curriculum, promote partnerships with public and private entities, and foster a learning environment that focuses less on transmitting information and more on the ability to organize, assess, apply, and create knowledge.

Our campus sits on 200 beautiful acres in Greensboro, N.C., and includes a 600-acre university farm. Our enrollment is more than 10,000 students and our workforce includes more than 2,000 employees.

We are home to visionary centers and institutes concentrating on human-machine studies, entrepreneurship and e-business, advanced journalism, public health, transportation, and more. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching classifies N.C. A&T as a doctoral/research university.

We are also the proud home of the NCAA Division I Aggies and the Blue and Gold Marching Machine, which participated in the 2012 Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade. Our men’s basketball team won the 2012 MEAC championship.

RANKINGS AND RECOGNITION

N.C. A&T graduates the nation’s largest number of African American engineers at the undergraduate, master’s and doctoral levels. Through our School of Business and Economics, we are also among the largest producers of African American certified public accountants.

True to our heritage, N.C. A&T is home to the largest agricultural school among historically black colleges and is the nation’s second largest producer of minority agricultural graduates.

In 2008, we were awarded a prestigious National Science Foundation’s Engineering Research Center (ERC) grant for biomedical engineering and nano-bio applications research.

N.C. A&T is proud of its 40,000 alumni of record who occupy leadership positions around the world. These alumni spread the Aggie tradition throughout the nation, continuing to strive for excellence and to make their mark in society.

AGGIE HISTORY

FEBRUARY 1, 1960

On February 1, 1960, in Greensboro, North Carolina, four A&T freshmen, Ezell Blair, Jr. (Jibreel Khazan), Franklin McCain, Joseph McNeil and David Richmond walked downtown and "sat-in" at the whites-only lunch counter at Woolworth’s. They refused to leave when denied service and stayed until the store closed.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE SIT-IN

Events that occurred as a result of this bold action by these four young men included:

February 2, 1960: 25 other students from A&T and other Greensboro colleges and universities joined them.

During the next 10 days: students across the state participated in similar sit-ins.

By the third week of February 1960: demonstrations had spread to at least 250 major cities and towns in the U.S. where over 400 demonstrations took place by the end of 1960.

End of July 1960: Woolworth’s was desegregated.

Legacy

Jibreel Khazan recounts that “…on Sunday night, January 31, 1960, we decided we were going to request equal service for all Americans at F. W. Woolworth’s lunch counter on Monday, February 1, 1960.”

As a result of this movement, significant events in civil rights history occurred:

• The passage of the 1960 Civil Rights Bill.

• The Interstate Commerce Commission ruling in September 1961 against racial segregation on interstate carriers and terminals.

• The first National Public Accommodations Act in 100 years (Khazan 2004).

The legacy of these four heroes proves the true potential and appeal of nonviolence. It was their protest that became the model and inspiration for later civil rights, anti-war and women’s liberations movements. These four young men forever changed the course of history with their bravery and courage.
