Preeminence 2020 was launched in August 2011, and for the past seven years it provided a roadmap for our institution. The progress made during those years has moved North Carolina A&T State University toward national prominence as a land-grant, doctoral, higher research activity university. Preeminence 2020: Taking the Momentum to 2023 (Preeminence 2023) refreshes our strategic mission and goals and will guide us through the next five years. This living document is our current roadmap.

We will build on the strong foundation of A&T Preeminence 2020 as we implement this new strategic plan. As a community we will live our core values, and pursue our strategic goals, fulfill our mission, and realize the vision of Preeminence 2023 over the next five years.

The successes of our past propel us towards significantly higher accomplishments in the future. Our commitment and hard work, as a community, will ensure the accomplishments of our goals.

The goals and targets that we have set for ourselves are achievable. They are documented in the plans of our various academic and support units and are highlighted here in our scorecard. We will hold ourselves accountable for achieving our goals and surpassing our targets related to enrollment growth; retention, graduation and placement rates; research, scholarship and engagement; distance education; and, increased diversity in our learning community. We will continue to be recognized for distinction in STEM education as well as excellence in all the other programs offered by the university.

I echo the voice of Chancellor Harold Martin: “It is time to take the next step, to apply the same level of institutional commitment and disciplined implementation that made our successes possible, to move into the exciting future that we envision in A&T Preeminence: Taking the Momentum to 2023.” Please see yourself in this strategic plan and be a part of the processes that will make it a reality over the next five years.

Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs
THE UNIVERSITY

Established in 1891, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University (A&T) is an 1890 land-grant institution and is currently ranked as a doctoral higher research activity university by the Carnegie Classifications of Institutions of Higher Education. With an enrollment of 12,142 students (Fall 2018), North Carolina A&T is the largest historically black university in the nation.

Throughout its history, A&T has maintained a rich tradition of excellence in academics, research and outreach. Today, the university is committed to fulfilling its fundamental purpose through exemplary undergraduate and graduate instruction, scholarly and creative research, and effective public service and engagement. A&T is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges.

The university offers baccalaureate, graduate and doctoral degree programs through the Colleges of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences; Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences; Business and Economics; Education; Engineering; Health and Human Sciences; and Science and Technology; The Graduate College; and the Joint School of Nanoscience and Nanoengineering. The curricula have been adapted to strengthen science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM)—the academic core and foundation of all programs. The university also has moved rapidly to blend its academic and research programs with the needs of society, forming a symbiotic relationship.

A&T has advanced to the forefront in the area of research—ranking third in the UNC System in sponsored research funding since 2005—and receiving a multimillion-dollar National Science Foundation Engineering Research Center grant, among many others.
Executive SUMMARY

A&T Preeminence 2020: Embracing Our Past, Creating Our Future has guided the university for the last seven years and has positioned it for continued success. The refresh, A&T Preeminence 2020: Taking the Momentum to 2023, will cement these gains, and propel us to future accomplishments. Fulfillment of the promise to uphold our land-grant legacy will require a commitment to complete the work we started in 2011, with Preeminence 2020.

The refresh (Preeminence 2023) outlines the updated goals for the university, and incorporates the goals of Higher Expectations, the UNC Strategic Plan. Progress in achieving the goals will be continually measured and communicated as we hold ourselves accountable for sustaining growth and a culture of academic excellence.

This plan focuses on the contributions that the Division of Academic Affairs will make to fulfilling the university’s mission and achieving its vision. The outcomes focus on improving the academic profile of our student body, while growing enrollment; enhancing retention, graduation and placement rates, fostering diversity and high academic profiles for our intercollegiate athletic teams; establishing new graduate degree programs on campus and online; and significant increases in the number of transfer students entering and graduating from our programs.

In addition to our focus on the university’s academic climate, the Division’s plan includes goals that impact all aspects of the university, including recruiting and retaining highly qualified faculty, administrators and staff, and advancing increasingly more meaningful community engagement.
